In Doylestown Township, stormwater can’t soak through pavement, rooftops, or concrete. This means that there’s more stormwater runoff in cities than in forests and fields. The water collects in gutters and usually flows straight into a storm drain. You would recognize a storm drain as the big grate in the road where the water disappears. Actually, it connects to a big pipe, which carries the water directly to your local stream or lake.

The next time you’re outside, make sure you put your trash where it belongs or you may see it again!
